An ultra-comfortable Fabarm semi-automatic shotgun designed for steel shot cartridges and designed for long-range shooting.

An iconic model from the FABARM brand, the XLR is, with this COMPOSITE AB version, revisited with taste and technicality. The frame and barrel benefit from a CERAKOTE Armor Black coating which guarantees optimal protection.

The weapon in a magnificent dark anthracite gray, perfectly in keeping with the SOFT TOUCH finish of the composite of the stock and the handguard, has a pretty anise green logo. Very well balanced and ideally suited to the intensive use of powerful cartridges, this COMPOSITE AB version also goes to the essentials with its 3 INNER HP chokes and its cardboard box, with the aim of being an almost unbeatable quality/price ratio.

- Stock length 368 mm with 22 mm HRA sabot
- Slope at bust 35 mm - Slope at heel 55 mm
- Comes with 3 INNER HP chokes (2/10 - 7/10 - 9/10)

With an XLR and its TRIBORE HP barrel you also have in your hands a weapon that is truly adapted to the use of steel ball cartridges. This barrel allows the shooting of high-performance steel ball cartridges with all chokes greater than ½ choke, including ¾ or full choke. The weapon is also tested at 1630 BAR.

The Fabarm XLR is a rifle intended for hunters in the plains in its 71 cm barrel version and for hunters of waterfowl and migratory birds in its 76 cm barrel version.
