Daniel Defense's MFR rail systems utilize the M-LOK mounting system for incredible weight savings along with superior cooling, ergonomics and modularity while maintaining the strength and durability expected of Daniel Defense.

The M-LOK attachment points are located in 7 rail positions and feature an uninterrupted 1913 Picatinny rail on top. Ambidextrous attachment points for sling swivels are integrated into the left and right side rails. Its sleek mounting system increases strength and reduces the overall diameter of the rail, making it easier to control, all while using the Bolt-up System barrel nut. Anti-rotation tabs are supplied as standard to facilitate installation and alignment. The MFR can be used with a low profile gas block on pistol, mid-length carbine, or shotgun gas systems.
