The Microdot First 4x32 AO riflescope is the ideal piece of equipment for recreational shooting enthusiasts looking to improve their accuracy at a lower cost. Designed to fit air rifles and small arms (.22LR), it offers excellent value for money.

Its fixed 4x magnification provides a stable image suitable for short and medium distances. The 32 mm objective lens captures enough light to ensure a clear image, even in low light. The parallax adjustment (AO) corrects for distance-related deviations, thus providing more precise aiming.

The standard reticle facilitates rapid target acquisition, ideal for recreational shooting sessions. Manual elevation and windage adjustments are simple to adjust, even in the field. Its lightweight aluminum body ensures good wear resistance while remaining easy to handle.

Easy to install thanks to the included mounting collars, the Microdot First 4x32 AO scope is a perfect choice for beginner or occasional shooters looking for efficiency and simplicity without breaking the bank.
