4K vision and detachable rangefinder for precise shots even in total darkness.

Versatility, 4K technology and telemetry for a shooting scope that meets field requirements

Whether you're hunting at night, keeping an eye out on the edge, or securing a long-range shot, this digital scope is designed to provide perfect terrain reading, even in critical lighting conditions. The 4K CMOS sensor delivers impressively realistic images, while the high-definition circular screen ensures optimal viewing comfort, even during long observation sessions.

- Detachable IR/rangefinder module: mounted on a rail, it can be removed in seconds to lighten the scope or adapt its configuration according to the type of output
- Built-in ballistic calculator: automatically adjusts the point of impact based on the measured distance, for immediate accuracy
- High detection range: up to 350 m in the dark thanks to the powerful and discreet 940 nm IR illuminator
- High-density circular display: allows intuitive and smooth reading of aiming information without tunnel effect
- Shock Resistance: Supports powerful calibers up to 6000 joules, including .308, 9.3x62 or 12 gauge
- Ergonomic interface: large buttons and side wheel accessible with gloves, simplified menus
- Real battery life: more than 5 hours with a single 18650 battery – easily replaceable in action
- Customizable aiming modes: multiple reticles and color palettes depending on the situation (day/night, fog, contrast, etc.)
- Easy sharing and archiving: Built-in Wi-Fi for live streaming, HDMI output for external recording, management via the PardVision2 app
- IP67 waterproof: suitable for use in rain or wet environments, ideal for forest or humid areas

Every detail has been designed to meet the needs of field professionals: long-term wear, instant accuracy, and adaptability to the context. This scope is a true concentration of on-board technology, dedicated to responsible shooting.
