Refinement and sophistication to embody the very essence of a fine weapon.

The forged steel receiver is richly engraved with numerous motifs plated in 24-karat gold. This meticulous attention to detail is also reflected in the pistol grip design, which gives the rifle a more streamlined profile than ever before. Every element of the Autumn Elite is designed to offer not only striking beauty, but also strength and durability that will stand the test of time: the four barrel lugs, the forged steel construction of all essential parts, the solid TRIBORE HP tubes-the Autumn Elite also impresses with its technical sophistication.

Exquisite craftsmanship

Each Autumn Elite features hand-engraved details on its forged steel receiver, enhanced with 24-karat gold plating. An aesthetic feat, a symbol of a demanding gunmaking heritage.

A technical and functional weapon

Indoor performance

The 71 cm barrels with TRIBORE HP profiles offer a smooth pressure transition for increased accuracy and shooting comfort. The interchangeable choke system allows the gun to be adapted to any situation.

Mechanical robustness

The Autumn Elite's robustness is based on a solid steel receiver and a 4-hook locking system, ensuring perfect durability over time, even under intensive use.

Two calibers for two sensations

In 12/76 gauge , the gun is aimed at those who prioritize versatile power. In 20/76 , you benefit from a lighter, more responsive shotgun, ideal for mobile hunters or those who appreciate a more refined experience.

FAQ

What are the advantages of the TRIBORE HP cannon?

The TRIBORE HP barrel optimizes gas pressure to improve projectile velocity, reduce recoil, and ensure a more consistent shot pattern. It is machined from a solid block for increased durability.

Does the rifle come with both barrels (12 and 20)?

No, each version of the Autumn Elite is dedicated to a single caliber: either 12/76 or 20/76. You must choose the desired configuration when purchasing.

What is the difference in shooting behavior between the 12 and the 20?

The 12-gauge offers greater versatility and a denser shot pattern, while the 20-gauge is lighter, more maneuverable, and has reduced recoil. The choice will depend on the type of hunting and the shooter's preferences.
