A platform dedicated to long-range shooting

The Victrix Motion is clearly designed for long-range shooting . Its 26-inch barrel with a heavy profile allows for optimal performance with calibers like the .308 Win or the 6.5 Creedmoor . In the field, its inherent stability is a real asset, promoting consistent groupings, even at extended ranges.

Robust chassis and adjustable ergonomics

The high-strength aluminum chassis provides essential rigidity for accuracy. The adjustable stock (horizontally and vertically) allows for a perfect shooting position. The isolating cheek rest improves comfort, especially during long sessions-a detail that makes all the difference in practice.

Advanced modularity and multiple rails

The oversized handguard incorporates Anschutz and Arca rails, as well as quick-release side interfaces. This configuration allows for easy mounting of bipods, tripods, or shooting accessories. The integrated 20 MOA Picatinny rail offers an excellent adjustment range for precision shooting optics.

Reliable and smooth mechanics

The short action, machined from a solid block of steel, guarantees robustness and smoothness. The symmetrical six-lug bolt ensures secure and consistent locking. The Victrix trigger, set at around 700 g, delivers a crisp break, perfectly suited to precision target shooting .

Complete and ready-to-fire configuration

Supplied with a Victrix ProAngle muzzle brake, carrying case, and essential accessories, the platform is immediately operational. It provides a solid foundation for shooters looking to progress to advanced configurations.
