A rimfire rifle with a traditional design

The Victrix Lynx in .22 LR retains the aesthetic appeal of the centerfire version with its superb walnut finish. On the shooting range, it immediately impresses with its balance and stability. The 22-inch match-grade barrel allows for consistent groupings, perfect for precision shooting and technical training.

Hybrid structure and optimal stability

The combination of a wooden stock and an internal aluminum structure offers an excellent compromise between rigidity and comfort. The integrated, full-length Arca-Swiss rail facilitates positioning on a rest or tripod - a real advantage for precision rimfire shooting .

Ergonomics and ease of use

The adjustable cheek rest and butt plate allow for a fine-tuning to each shooter. In practice, this improves shot repeatability and reduces fatigue during long shooting sessions.

Smooth and reliable mechanics

The precision-machined action, combined with a bolt featuring two asymmetrical rear lugs and a double extractor, ensures smooth and reliable operation. The Victrix Sporting Plus trigger, set at around 250g, provides a crisp break, ideal for precision shooting in .22 LR .

An ideal base for progress

Delivered with a 20 MOA rail, carrying case and essential accessories, the Victrix Lynx is an excellent platform for effective training while maintaining a feel close to long-distance setups.
