A mounting base designed for the Heym SR21

To fully exploit the performance of a Heym SR21 , the optics mount must be flawless. This Innomount Picatinny rail offers a perfectly machined platform that guarantees precise alignment of the scope or red dot sight. In everyday use, this rigidity translates into excellent mount stability and long-lasting adjustment retention.

One-piece construction in high-strength steel

Made of blued steel , this rail prioritizes robustness and longevity. The steel effectively resists mechanical stress and minimizes deformation, even after frequent handling. This type of mount is ideal when seeking a reliable solution to complement a high-quality rifle.

Universal compatibility with the Picatinny standard

Thanks to its profile conforming to the Picatinny MIL-STD-1913 standard , this rail allows for easy mounting of most scopes, red dot sights, holographic sights, and compatible accessories. The precision-machined grooves ensure secure locking and excellent repeatability after removal.

Precise positioning of your optics

Its 158 mm length offers considerable freedom to adjust the optic's position according to the desired eye relief and the shooter's physique. In practice, this facilitates achieving a comfortable and consistent shooting position without compromising stability.

A sustainable solution for discerning hunters

Combining Innomount's renowned machining quality with a particularly rigid one-piece design, this rail is an ideal solution for equipping a Heym SR21 . It perfectly meets the expectations of hunters seeking a robust, precise, and durable mount.
